Please prepare the documents after fully understanding the points in the amendment.

(1) Amendment Overview

The overview is as follows. Details of the ordinance are on the MEXT Website.

① Obligation of those who have been conferred a doctoral degree

From the point of view of promoting open access and digitization of educational research results, a doctoral degree recipient must publish his/her dissertation on the Internet within a year of the conferral of the degree, with the cooperation of Hosei University which conferred the degree and any relevant organizations.

②Obligation of organizations which confer a doctoral degree

(2) Graduate School Regulations

< Report of Dissertation Screening and Publication of Dissertation Abstract, etc.>

Graduate School Regulations of Hosei University Article 28

When Hosei University has conferred a doctoral degree on a student, the university shall, within three months of the conferral of the degree, submit a degree conferral report to the Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology, and publish an abstract of the relevant dissertation, and a summary of the results of the dissertation screening on the Internet.

<Publication of Dissertations>

Graduate School Regulations of Hosei University Article 29

(1) A doctoral degree recipient must publish his/her dissertation on the Internet, within a year after the conferral of the degree, with the cooperation of Hosei University or the National Institution for Academic Degrees and University Evaluation. However, this is not necessary if the dissertation was published before the degree conferral.

(2) When publishing the dissertation as per the preceding clause, the author must clearly indicate that it is a dissertation for a doctoral degree at Hosei University.

(3) Notwithstanding the provision of Clause 1, a doctoral degree recipient may, with the permission of the Graduate School Committee, publish an abstract of his/her dissertation in lieu of the full text, if there is a compelling reason to do so. In this case, the University shall make available to the public, upon request, the full-text of the dissertation.

(4) When making the dissertation available to the public as per the provision of the preceding clause, it must be clearly indicated that it is a dissertation for a doctoral degree at Hosei University.

(3) Online publication of dissertation at Hosei University

The dissertation of a doctoral degree recipient will be published on the Internet via two web services listed below, within a year after the conferral of the degree. In principle, the dissertation should be published in full-text.

①Hosei University Library “Hosei University Repository”

②National Diet Library “National Diet Library Digital Collections”

Upon publication, the dissertation data will be linked with the Portal Site (JAIRO) and the Academic Database Service “CiNii”, provided by National Institute of Informatics.

(4) Cases where there is “a compelling reason” not to publish the full-text dissertation

Although in principle dissertations should be published in full-text, if there is “a compelling reason”, recipients may choose to publish the summary instead of the whole dissertation with the approval of the Graduate School Dean Meeting, as stated in the Regulation Article 29, (3). However, even in that case, Hosei University will publish the whole dissertation if required. The details are as follows.

①List of possible “compelling reasons”

Below are the cases that Hosei University would approve objectively as a compelling reason.

- If the dissertation includes contexts such as three-dimensional shapes that would be impossible to be published on the Internet.
- If the dissertation includes contexts that would be impossible to be published more than a year after the conferral date of a doctoral degree on the grounds of copyright protection or personal information protection.
- If there would be an apparent disadvantage for a doctoral degree recipient to publish the whole dissertation on the Internet more than a year after the conferral date on the grounds of matters relating to publication in the scholarly journals which prohibit other publications or multiple releases, patent application and so on.

②Approval procedure of “a compelling reason”

The approval procedure of “a compelling reason” is as follows.

- Doctoral degree applicants write the compelling reason on the “Dissertation Listing” form on application.
- The Examining Subcommittee deliberates, considering the context of the “compelling reason” and the “(assumed) summary”.
- When the Examining Subcommittee approves it, applicants then submit the “summary of dissertation in place of the whole dissertation” which is different from the one the applicant wrote on the “Dissertation Listing” form. The Examining Subcommittee will verify it.
- The Examining Subcommittee reports to the Examining Committee with the documents.
- The Examining Committee deliberates and approves.
- The Graduate School Dean Meeting deliberates and approves.

<Supplementary Information> What is the “summary”?

“Summary of dissertation in place of the whole dissertation” is different from “abstract” and is the summary of the dissertation indicating examples such as setting the theme, methodology, experiment/analysis, results/observation with which you can understand the dissertation as a whole.

(According to Graduate School Section, University Promotion Division, Higher Education Bureau: Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology (MEXT))

③After the “compelling reason” has been resolved.

When the “compelling reason” has been resolved, the dissertation must be published in full-text on the Internet.

- Doctoral degree recipients should voluntarily inform Hosei University that the “compelling reason” has been resolved.

●Upon receiving the University's instruction, fill out and submit the form "Application for full-text publication of dissertation" and submit the "Permission to release over the Internet" form again.

④Stopping the publication of the full-text dissertation because of the "compelling reason"

If a "compelling reason" occurs after degree conferral and you wish to stop the publication of the full-text dissertation, please follow the following procedure.

●The degree recipient should inform Hosei University that a "compelling reason" has occurred.

●Upon receiving the University's instruction, fill out and submit the form "Application for cancelling the full-text publication of dissertation" and submit the "summary".

●The publication of the dissertation in full-text shall be stopped only when Hosei University accepts that there is a compelling reason.

●In the above case, please note that there will be some time needed from the point at which the student informed the University before the publication will be cancelled.
